SUBFLOOR

ROSCO

[A] SubFloor with Wavelock™ technology

Developed and tested by dancers to insure the perfect combination of resilience (spring or bounce) with stability. It is flexible enough to absorb the energy from a dancer's impact, but provides the right amount of resistance for dance movements ranging from ballet to tap and including folk, modern, flamenco and Irish dancing. Most users will be able to install the SubFloor on their own. The panels lock into each other. Perimeter pieces lock the entire floor together. SubFloor systems can be bolted to concrete or wood floors and can also be removed and re-used in case of a change of venue. Panels weigh 40 lbs. each.
