SPOTLIGHTON...

ROSCO PROJECTION SCREEN

Projecting images onto a screen is affordable and flexible. Here are some helpful hints in choosing the right screen. The following screens are available as raw materials, 55" seamless, 86" seamless, 110" welded or finished to your specifications. Due to custom applications, please contact our product department for samples, additional information or pricing.

Black is used in situations with high quantities of ambient light. Images have fine detail resolution when back lit.

Grey features wide viewing angles in rear projection.

Twin White offers a front or rear projection surface, with no apparent difference in picture brightness. Also features wide viewing angles.

Front White is a highly opaque, reflective material, specifically geared for front projection.

Light Translucent features high, direct light transmission, sharp picture quality and minimal absorption loss. Commonly used in studios and stages where there may be a high level of ambient light to reduce the image contrast.
